Contract Hire Pallet Racking From Nene

Total flexibility... Meeting stringent demands

NENE is known as the market leader in all aspects of storage equipment, and has earned a justifiable reputation for quality and service. Only the best equipment available is supplied. Premierack is specifically designed and built to exceed current UK (S.E.M.A.) and European (F.E.M.) standards, and the standards that you demand for your materials handling needs. Manufactured by Hi-Lo, Premierack's industry leading specifications mean that you can rely on it to meet your needs.

An increasingly dynamic world of Supply Chain Management means that the requirement for long-term static storage is lessening. The need to maintain and increase efficiency, while adhering to legislation, has resulted in the cost of investing in up-to-date storage and mechanical handling equipment becoming progressively more prohibitive.

When a business needs extra pallet racking, it does not always make sense to buy it... especially in a changing economy and with storage requirements being unpredictable or short-term. Rather than buy, why not contract hire your racking systems from Nene? We stock a complete range of Premierack pallet racking guaranteed to meet all your storage needs. You can hire it for any amount of time from one month to five years.

At Nene we deliver and install to your specifications. We install all of the racking and when you no longer require it upon completion of the contract, we will come and take it away... it is as simple as that. This means that you do not have investment tied up in racking that you no longer need and valuable space that you cannot use.

In addition there is no capital investment involved, you are hiring not buying. All you have is a manageable weekly charge. The charge includes installation, on-going maintenance and access to our engineers and CAD design service to devise efficient floor layouts and solve your storage problems.

There are eight superb benefits:

1. No Risk

You gain access to Nene's recognised expertise and experience

2. No Hassle

Nene installs and removes

3. No Commitment

Contract lengths that suit you not someone else

4. Quality

Nene only uses Premierack pallet racking systems

5. Convenient

All it takes is one call

6. Access to professionals

Nene is renowned for its highly trained engineers

7. Access to service

You receive service tailored to your needs

8. Commitment to Health and Safety

High quality equipment supplied and installed in line with the SEMA Code of Practice and the Health & Safety Work Act
